

CLIENT FEEDBACK

Computer technicians should do what they do best and lawyers should do what they do best. To have lawyers try to fix their own technology problems is a waste of time, money, and talent. When I need help, I call Ray Young and Technology Support & Solutions, INC.

Ray Young of Technology Support & Solutions has been my trusted technology advisor for several years. Whenever I have a problem or just need to upgrade my computer, both at home and in my business, I call Ray. He has always come through for me. I value the relationship. I do not have to worry about the ever changing technology and I can concentrate on my business, knowing that any IT needs that I may have will be handled in a professional manner.

I started a family owned Peruvian restaurant and asked Ray Young of Technology Support & Solutions, INC. for help with creating a web-site. They found an economic design for my website. They got it a great rank in Google and listed in Metromix and the Chicago Reader restaurant section. When it came time for our next website they created the new website (soon to launch) and helped redo do the menu. They included descriptions of the cuisine in English, making exotic Peruvian dishes easy to understand to non-Peruvians. They consulted with native Spanish speakers, Edith Castro, from Peru and Susana Mate, from Spain. They made sure the Spanish used on the menu would be understandable to any Spanish speaker. No other company would take such care.

When I need help with Search Engine Optimization I know no one better to talk to than Ray Young and Technology Support & Solutions, INC. These people stay up all night studying how search engine algorithms work. I have seen how they can get a company on the first page or first line of a Google or MSN search. I am impressed and amazed at how well their techniques work.

I am pretty knowledgeable about computers but I just could not remove some spyware that had taken over my internet browser. After downloading 4 or 5 things, getting advice from pros, posting to websites, I just about gave up. Then I decided to call Ray Young of Technology Support & Solutions. He managed to fix my problem completely and quickly.

Thanks for your help.
